

What we want to achieve

Our mission is to improve the well-being of people with a learning disability in Wales. We will do this by expanding, diversifying and ensuring greater access to a wide range of daytime opportunities, services and activities.

How we will do this

1. Improve access, quality and choice

Improve people's access to and choice of high-quality daytime opportunities, services and activities.

2. Enhance collaboration

Develop strong partnerships among organisations to share best practices, resources and joint working.

3. Increase agency

Stand up for the rights of people with a learning disability to have choice and control over the daytime opportunities, services and activities they take part in.

We believe:

- Everybody with a learning disability who has a need for support has the right to access appropriate daytime opportunities, services and activities.
- Everybody with a learning disability who takes part in daytime opportunities, services and activities has a right to choice and control about their participation.
- People's needs, wishes and ambitions change throughout their lives. People with a learning disability must be given opportunities to progress and change the support they access when it is right for them.
